Black ice blamed for car sliding into creek

A 17-year-old Foster resident operating a 2004 Mazda 6, four miles east of Butler on Flour Creek Road on February 18, escaped injury when her vehicle slid into a creek and partially submerged. Savannah Torline was able to get herself out of the vehicle before rescue personnel arrived. Pendleton County Search and Rescue was dispatched to the scene. A passenger in the vehicle was Carla Torline also of Foster was also a passenger in the vehicle and was able to escape. According to the police report the driver said there was an animal in the roadway and when she hit the brakes the vehicle went off of the left side of the roadway and into a creek submerging the vehicle up high on the tires. Black ice is blamed for causing the accident that happened at 8:32 a.m. Search and rescue personnel pictured above are Kenny Gibson, Chris Scroggins and Ray Broschert. Pendleton County Sheriff Craig Peoples worked the accident. Pendleton EMS was also on the scene.

Dead tree damages some tombstones at Riverside

A strong wind, lighting and rain storm on February 20 caused an old dead tree standing in the Riverside Cemetery to be blown over toppling down on a few monuments.

Some of the monuments were knocked off their bases. Until the old tree is removed it's hard to say how much damage there is. Photo by April DeFalco.

Annual chili supper at Kincaid Park

The annual Kincaid Lake State Park chili supper will be held on Saturday, March 1 at the multi-purpose building at the park.

Festivities are from 5:30-7:30. Come out and socialize and enjoy the delicious chili and some great desserts.

There will be raffles and you could win some nice gifts.

All political candidates are welcome.

Sullivan completes wall mural at Pendleton County Public Library

By Jackie Vaughn, Reporter

When the Pendleton County Public Library wanted to add some color and entertainment to their "World of Words" children/teen section, they called on local artist Kirk Sullivan of Sullivan Art & Taxidermy in Falmouth to do the job. He recently completed a 12 ft. wall mural titled "Castle in the Garden" that adds to the wonder and enchantment of the facility.

The large, airbrushed wall mural completes the decorative castle project funded by the R.C. Durr Foundation and features a stone archway entrance with a long path leading to a castle on the horizon. There are flowers, bushes, and trees on each side of the narrow path and the sun can be seen shining in the distance.

"Kirk did such a wonderful job interpreting exactly what everyone had in mind," said Pendleton County Public Library Director Cheri Figgins.

Four Wildcat soccer seniors sign to play at KCU

By Sam McClanahan, Reporter

History was made last Thursday, February 20, as four soon-to-be Pendleton County High School graduates collectively signed to further their education as well as their athletic careers at Kentucky Christian University.

Before a packed lobby that consisted of family, friends, former teammates and past coaches, former Wildcat soccer players, Max Dewald, CJ Osborne, Cody Hanser and Logan Wilson each signed letters of intent to play for the Knights beginning this fall. This marks the first time in history of the school's athletic department that four student-athletes each committed to the same institution during one signing

Sale of liquor by drink on Sundays approved by Council

Pittman commissioned Kentucky Colonel

By Roger McKinney, Reporter

The Falmouth City Council cast two historic votes on Tuesday, February 11, 2014, in regard to the sale of alcoholic beverages.

After the second reading of an ordinance amendment allowing the sale of liquor in Falmouth on Election Day, Councilman Gary Askin made a motion that the ordinance amendment be approved. Councilwoman Jodi Chaplin Ramey gave the motion a second and a roll call vote was taken: Ernie Richie - (No), Gary Askin - (Yes), Stan Love - (Yes), Ron Stinson - (Yes), Jodi Chaplin Ramey - (Yes) and Darryl Ammerman - (Yes). Thus, the ordinance amendment was approved by a vote of five over one.

After the second reading of an ordinance allowing the sale of liquor by the drink in Falmouth on Sundays from 1:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m., Councilwoman Jodi Chaplin Ramey made a motion that the ordinance be

The Sunday sale of liquor in Falmouth may be expanded on some future date, perhaps from 12 noon to 12 midnight. This change would be brought about by an ordinance amendment.

Falmouth Mayor Mark Hart presented former Councilwoman Mary Ann Pittman with a Kentucky Colonel Commission paying tribute to the lawmaker for her decade of city service. Pittman was nominated for the honor by Mayor Hart and her commission was authorized by Katie Stine and the Kentucky Senate. The councilwoman also received a citation from Senator Stine for her many achievements as a public servant.

Councilman Stan Love was appointed to fill out Mary Ann Pittman's term

"His fantasy garden was the perfect finishing touch for our project."

Even though Sullivan can make the most complex artwork seem easy, he admits that quite a bit of planning and research went into his latest creation.

"I did my homework on this project. It took some work getting it all into perspective," explained Sullivan. "I had to attain the illusion that a person was looking down a path and I needed to know where everything was going to go on a smaller scale before transferring it over to the wall. I drew small dimensions and projected large. It was like putting the pieces of a puzzle together. After that, it was just draw and pray."

Sullivan employed a Wile E. Coyote/Roadrunner effect to add to the realism of the mural.

"It looks like you could just walk right up the path to the castle," said Sullivan.

Sullivan, a self-taught and lifelong artist, is well-known in the community for his many works of art. His series of wildlife, school, and tobacco prints can be found on the walls of businesses and homes throughout the county. In addition, he has painted mascot murals in the gymnasiums of many area schools. Some of these locations include Deming, Ryle, (Buddy) Chambers of Miami Township, Ohio.

Pendleton Fiscal Court meeting agenda

Pendleton County Fiscal Court meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m., February 25, 2014.

Tentative agenda will go as follows: Call to order, prayer, pledge, approval of agenda, approval of minutes, approval of treasure's report, recognize Pendleton County 911 Dispatch Center accreditation achievement, second reading of the county encroachment ordinance, approval of tire amnesty agreement for June 2014, approve Champions painting of the Old Jail Wall, proclamation declaring March 2-8 Severe Weather Awareness Week, transfers, pay bills, closing remarks by Judge Bertram/magistrates and adjourn.

Community Development Director Bill Mitchell introduced the Pendleton County Youth Leadership Team to the council. The PCYLTL was attending the meeting in order to experience how local government works.

Council approved a resolution authorizing the application for a grant that would partially fund the purchase of bullet proof vests and tasers for the police department.

City Maintenance Supervisor Gary Lea discussed the issue of salt and winter roadway treatment with the council.

Director of the City Water and Wastewater System Todd Ramsey discussed water tank maintenance with the council. Director Ramsey recommended that the tanks be inspected by GRW engineers before any painting is initiated.

Falmouth Renaissance Director Susan Bishop updated the council regarding the replacement and/or repair of the doors and windows in Kennett Tavern. Director Bishop said that a Laryn Karsnitz from the Lexington Wooden Window and Door Reconditioning Company had inspected each window and door in city hall and would send her a written report with recommendations. Bishop said that she would turn that report over to the Heritage Council in Frankfort.

City Attorney Henry Watson III updated the council regarding boundary issues.

The council approved a resolution that authorizes the signing of an agreement with Kentucky Emergency Management concerning mutual aid and assistance.

Falmouth Festival Chairwoman Sherry Wilcher gave an extensive report to the council pertaining to the city's 2013 Christmas Festival activities and the Independence Day celebrations planned for July of 2014. Wilcher also talked about a community trunk sale that is scheduled for May 3. A motion was approved to block off certain streets in downtown Falmouth in order to accommodate the sale.

The Falmouth City Council entered a closed session to discuss land acquisition. When the lawmakers returned to open forum no action was taken.

25 Years Ago

March 7, 1989

Many Pendleton County residents awakened Monday morning to chilling temperatures in their homes and no electricity. These power outages were caused by an ice storm that hit the area late Sunday night.

Falmouth City Council voted in a special meeting on March 2 to rejoin the National Flood Insurance Program for flood coverage. At the next meeting, council will have a first reading of the Flood Insurance Resolution.

H&K Guns, 305 Main Street, Falmouth, invites sportsmen to stop in the store and see the variety of stock they have. Owners Rick King and Jack Helvey opened the store's doors on January 14.

Bracken County Polar Bears are the 38th District Champs defeating Deming Devils 70-67 before a packed house at Pendleton High School this past Saturday night.

Mark Allen Black, 18, of Pleasant Ridge, made his first solo flight in a Cessna 150 at Cynthiana Airport on February 19, 1989. A senior at Pendleton County High School, Mark is the son of Philip and Ruth Black.

Southern Elementary's Traveling Basketball Team clinched the Championship Title in overtime, Feb. 25, defeating Harrison County with a 39 to 34 score. The tournament provided excellent basketball entertainment from the youth of surrounding districts.

Renis Petrey, a senior is representing PCHS in the "Sweet Sixteen" academic competition at UK.

50 Years Ago

March 7, 1964

Falmouth earned its name of the "Island City" Monday, March 9, 1964, when the biggest flood in the city's history hit. For years the city has been called an Island City because it is at the confluence of the Main and South Licking rivers.

Augusta High School was crowned the 38th District Basketball Champions after they defeated Falmouth High 80 to 58. This leaves the Falmouth Red Devils as the 1964 District Runner-Ups.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Ritter, Sr., highly esteemed Christian couple of Pendleton County, were honored by their children and friends, Sunday, March 8, 1964 with an open house on their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Doris Faye Mains, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Mains, of this county was married to Corporal Ronald Lee Graves of Smithville, Ky., February 1, 1964.

Miss Helen Sue Carr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Carr of Butler, Route 1 and Donald Ray Mays, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Mays, also of Butler, Route 1, were married February 22, 1964.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Glacking of Gardnersville are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a daughter, born February 16. She has been named Darlene Frances. Mrs. Glacking before marriage was Miss Alice Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Cook of Crittenden.

Cecil Riggle of Ivor Road, Pendleton County, died Wednesday morning at Veterans Hospital in Cincinnati.

75 Years Ago

March 17, 1939

Charles Crawford, aged 55 years, died Monday, March 20, 1939, at his home at Wampum on the Lenoxburg Pike.

The essay written by Robert Aulick, student in the 8th grade of the Morgan Consolidated School, won first prize in the contest sponsored by Edmund Pendleton Chapter, D.A.R. on the flag.

Congratulations to Rev. and Mrs. Leo Drake on the birth of a little daughter, Sylvia Hope, on March 14. Weight was 7 lbs. This is their second heir. Now little J. Campbell has a sister.

The children and grandchildren and great grandchildren of Mrs. Martha Harrison came on March 12 from far and near to assist her in celebrating her eighty-fifth birthday anniversary, which was held at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Harry Johnson.

A most enjoyable day was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Wilson and family on Sunday, March 19, when relatives assembled and gave them a happy surprise on their fifteenth wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Price's house caught on fire last week. No one was at home, but Mrs. Price called for help. Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Harper and son, L.T. and Mrs. A.C. Hall helped to put the fire out.

The committees from the Fiscal Court and City Council have reported fine progress in securing the rights-of-way for three miles of highway from the top of Oetzel Hill through the south limits of Falmouth to a point connecting with the main highway near the home of George Klee.

Karen Davis Homemakers meet at Howard's

Due to road concerns, the Karen Davis Homemakers Club met at Howard's for their February meeting. Items of discussion included road clean-up. They will once again be cleaning Broadford Road. The money earned is used to provide a scholarship to one of the county seniors. The club received information on interrupted sleep. As people age (of course none of us are old) it sometimes gets harder to fall asleep and many awaken several times in the night. It is said deep breathing and mental imagery, meditation can help. Or you could do as many do and pray.

The lesson was on Green Home Cleaning Products. People need to read warning labels and be careful not to mix certain chemicals and be careful about breathing them. Some cleaning items can also be mixed at home. Most importantly, remember to keep all cleaning products out of children's reach. They can be deadly.

If you would like to learn more about topics like this please join the homemakers the second Monday of each month. For more information about time and place please call 859-654-8687.

In Defense of Israel

A recent article in a weekly newspaper in Kentucky criticized the State of Israel for how it was treating the Palestinians and Arab nations in the Middle East. Citing how the United Nations had shoved the Palestinians aside to make land for the newly recognized State of Israel, the writer claims that Israel has treated its neighbors with indifference at best and has been anything but a good neighbor; punching, prodding with electric cattle goads, and shooting unarmed stragglers. She demands that the US of A desist from providing monetary assistance to Israel as well as lending moral support to Israel in its effort to defend itself against Iran. The following admittedly takes a different viewpoint:

"Let this sin be on us and our people," so said the Jews when they argued for the crucifixion of Christ. And God said I will scatter you to the four corners of the earth, but will gather you again in the end time to the land of your fathers.

Indeed the Jews have been scattered and persecuted in nearly every place they have ever been, most notably in Nazi Germany where Hitler massacred over six million. Several reasons are advanced as to why they have been persecuted so strongly. They are well-disciplined, particularly when it comes to finance, and it seems that in any place where they get a foothold, they end up as being one of the main players in the economy. I heard a prominent business person who was going out of business say that he could not compete against a business that was bankrolled by Jews.

Also, Jews tend to be social isolates in that they retain their religion and family values and do not mix and mingle in the manner of other nationalities. Divorce, abortion, and homosexuality are much less in Jewry than in our mixture of cultures. Consequently, they tend to live in conclaves of a relatively small number. For example, 3500

Jews lived in Ejszyszki in 1939. Nazis and their Lithuanian collaborators killed the entire village on September 25 and 26, 1941. (Viewable in the Holocaust Museum, in Washington, D. C.) But this does not explain why Hitler would kill six million of them. Could it be that their persecution was the Hand of God punishing the Jews for their rejection of His Son? Indeed the fact that the United Nations after World War II created a land area for the Jews at the expense of uprooting some Palestinians appears to be more secular evidence for the veracity of the Bible. But, even with the United Nations forming the state, the Jews have been persecuted in the land which the biblical God gave to their fathers.

Israel has had skirmishes with their neighbors and some major conflicts such as the Six Days War, June 5-10, 1967. Our bus driver told us as we visited the Golan Heights that the Jews planted Eli Cohen, a business person, as a spy in Syria before the War. He asked what he could do to help the Syrians who told him that it was very hot there during the summer, to which he advised that they plant mulberry trees around their caches of weapons. These trees provided a cooling effect, but also were clear signals to the Israeli Air Force as to the location of the Syrian weaponry. When the Six Day War broke, their encampments were sitting ducks for the Israeli Air Force, which took only two days to break the backs of the Syrians.

Were the Israelis aggressors in this conflict? Hardly! It wasn't just the Syrians. Jordan, Saudi Arabia, and Egypt had banded together and were going to annihilate Israel. Nasser of Egypt, who was president of the United Arab Republic, had dispatched 80,000 foot soldiers, 900 tanks and 400 jet aircraft toward Israel. The excuse which the Arabs gave for their invasion was similar to the one-sided version cited above. Israelis are mean people who took their land and treat them like third-class citizens.

To be sure, the Israelis had pushed back against Arab terrorists who had crossed over the border and killed several Israelis, including civilians; among them, women and children. Syrian guns were bombarding Jewish settlements around the Sea of Galilee, and Jordanians had taken grave stones from the Mount of Olives and were using them for latrines.

It is interesting to note that the Israeli Air Force wiped out Nasser's 400 jets while his pilots ate breakfast! It was something of a miracle that the Israelis prevailed, and took only six days to whip a much larger confederation of Arabs. Kind of like David and Goliath?

Moreover, the Iranians in recent times have threatened to blow the Israelis into the Mediterranean Sea. And, they have aggressively sought to gain nuclear bomb capability which the Israelis already possess. It appears that a major showdown is shaping up.

I recall attending a tent revival in the early 1950s in the vacant lot next to the Senior Citizens' Building in Jackson, Ky. The late Walter Strong was the preacher. Fresh on our minds was the formation of the new state of Israel. He preached about how this was the fulfillment of biblical prophecy and how it signaled the beginning of end time. He went on to say that the battle of Armageddon would be in the plains of Megiddo with Iran clashing with Israel, Russia coming to the aid of Iran, and the US of A siding with Israel. And, other nations, taking one side or the other.

The US of A has always been an ally of Israel, but under our current president, it appears that he is straddling the fence and at times he seems to support the Arabs. Hence, Israel is not sure of his allegiance. And, other articles raise the question of whose side he is on.

I see no reason to change my position that in the end, Israel will prevail!

"Coolness"

I had only two drag races in my life. I edged a 1949 Studebaker by a nose. The Studebaker's appearance resembled a miniature army tank or a tub that had been turned upside down. If you viewed it from a distance you could not tell whether it was coming or going. My next race was a defeat and came at the hands of a monstrous 1951 Buick. After beating the Studebaker I felt sure I could demolish the larger, heavier, "dynamo" beast of a car. I was wrong. After this upset, it was confirmed that my car and I could save embarrassment and whatever reputation we had by refraining from racing. It sort of reminded me of the statement that was made by a fellow colleague of mine about a person who talked when he should have been listening. It went like this: "It is better to keep your mouth shut and let the people think you are a fool, than to speak and remove all doubt!"

I have always been one who believed if you can't succeed in one area, that you should try the next best thing. Since my car was not powerful, and it was assumed that a young man's status with the girls was established by the screeching of tires, the roar of mufflers, and how well a car was decorated, my plans had to take a more sophisticated route. The first area to tackle would be the car's appearance.

The first items added were fender skirts and mud flaps. The radio antenna was extended to its full height and a squirrel tail was attached to the very top. On the top of the back seat gazing out the rear window was a little dog. His head was on a rocker and swayed in all directions when the car was moving. The signal and brake lights were connected to its eyes. If you signaled right, his left eye would blink; if you signaled left, his right eye would blink; and when you hit your brakes, both eyes lit up. Large sponge dice hung from the rear view mirror, and small linked chains and trinkets, that I had won at a carnival, dangled from the sun visor.

With all these visual additives, I then began practicing stops. I would accelerate strongly and then briskly apply the brakes and come to a screeching halt. My stops were so precise that when I saw someone watching, I could even slide sideways. I would try to especially be dramatic when a member of the opposite sex was watching. I felt very secure that even though I could not keep up with the powerful cars on the takeoff, I certainly did not have to take the "back seat" to anyone when it came to making elaborate stops.

One day I was traveling down a gravel road at a respectable speed when I saw several people up ahead who were at a tobacco bed pulling plants. As I came closer I noticed that part of this group included two well figured girls who were clad in bright red shorts. I really had no business at this location, but had earlier anticipated that the girls might be there.

This situation was perfect. Some 75 feet beyond the tobacco bed was a stop sign with a large oak shade tree. What better place could exist for a dramatic stop? With this illusion in mind, I sped up for the grand finale. As I neared the sign, I slammed on the brakes and gave the wheel a quick turn to the left. In an instant, the car made two complete turns that were not planned, and slid into the farmer's wagon that was parked under the tree. The impact caused no injury to me, but I could see that it had really "played havoc" with several bundles of tobacco plants, which had been placed on the wagon.

No sooner had I halted than the father of the girls reached a hairy muscular arm through the window and dragged me out. I assumed he was a veteran because his arms resembled the cartoon character Popeye. He had a tattoo on his arm with an anchor and heart that said, "Love Mother." With a vice-like grip he gave me a couple shakes that caused my neck to twitch. His first comment was, "How old are you boy?" I replied rather softly that I was sixteen. He then roared, "How in the H*** could anyone get so dumb in such a short time! Now let me see how fast you can pick up those plants and put them in order!"

For fear of my story having an "R" rating, I will leave out some of the other expletives that he used. After two hours of picking up plants and another hour of pulling new ones to replace those that were broken, I finally concluded my work and politely asked to be excused. I did not "scratch off" when I left even though the lane was covered with small pea gravel and the girls were watching. The two girls at the tobacco bed never seemed to appeal to me after the incident. For several months after the accident I would get nervous every time I approached a stop sign.

LEGISLATIVE PERSPECTIVE ON KENTUCKY GENERAL ASSEMBLY

While the General Assembly's committees understandably focus most of their time on bills and resolutions during legislative sessions, it is not uncommon for them to review other issues as well that have an impact on the state.

That happened earlier this month, when the House Veterans, Military Affairs and Public Protection Committee heard from the state's Adjutant General about the ongoing work done by the National Guard.

Our local communities, of course, have a good understanding of the sacrifices being made by the nearly 8,500 men and women who serve in the Army National Guard and the Air National Guard. It is worth noting that 85 percent are listed as part-time.

Since the September 11 attacks more than a dozen years ago, we have seen more than 16,000 Guardsmen deployed overseas. That number is down to about 130 now, with most of those based in the Middle East or Cuba. At least some, however, are in Antarctica.

Some of the Guard's activities closer to home include providing military honors for more than 250 veterans who passed away in 2013 and helping the residents of West Virginia overcome the effects of last month's chemical spill in their water supply. Later this summer, it will take part in a national exercise to be better prepared in the event of a major earthquake along the New Madrid Fault.

Taking time to hear from groups like the National Guard gives my legislative colleagues and me the opportunity to see what kind of impact our work during legislative sessions has out in the field.

We heard more about that type of impact in one of the bills that cleared the House on Thursday last week.

This legislation, House Bill 199, would increase the age and height requirements for booster seats, putting them in line with recommendations by pediatricians and federal highway safety officials.

Like the rest of the nation, Kentucky has seen a lot of success when it comes to making our highways safer, thanks in part to a variety of laws the legislature has passed. While one death is too many, the state's Office of Highway Safety recently reported that the number of these fatalities in 2013 was at its lowest level since 1949.

With traffic safety in mind, I was proud that legislation I am sponsoring, House Bill 275, cleared the House Transportation Committee last week and should be up for a vote in the full House soon.

This legislation addresses the issue of illegal parking by large trucks along our highway on- and off-ramps. I am a strong supporter of the trucking industry, which is why I am working to make sure they have safe and adequate parking space in places like the new truck stop proposed at the Sadieville exit along I-75.

I brought this legislation forward after speaking with Harrison County's Michael and Patrick McCall, the father and uncle of Todd McCall, who lost his life last year when he ran into the back of a parked truck.

House Bill 275 would hopefully end this practice by raising the fines in these cases. Instead of ranging from $20-$100, the fine would be between $100 and $200. My hope is that no fine ever needs to be issued, and I am pleased that the Kentucky Motor Transportation Association does not oppose this approach.

Another piece of legislation moving forward last week was the re-authorization of the Tobacco Task Force. I have been proud to serve on this committee as long as I have been a state representative, because it gives legislators a forum to discuss how we can better protect and promote this vital area of agriculture.

A growing area for tobacco is the export market, and late last week, Governor Beshear announced that Kentucky's total exports hit another record mark in 2013. In fact, sales went up 14 percent, which was seven times higher than the national average and higher than all states but one.

Overall, export sales last year topped $25 billion. While we still have a way to go to get our economy where we would like it to be, this good news about our export growth shows that we are making progress.

It may seem that the 60-day legislative session just began, but it reaches the halfway mark on Wednesday this week. As always, the second half promises to be an especially busy time as we try to find compromises with the Senate on dozens of bills, including the budget.

If you would like to let me know your views, or if you know of a child who would like to be a legislative page, there is still plenty of time to contact me. My address is Room 332E, Capitol Annex, 702 Capitol Avenue, Frankfort, KY 40601; or you can email me at Tom.McKee@lrc.ky.gov.

To leave a message for me or for any legislator by phone, please call 800-372-7181. For those with a hearing impairment, the number is 800-896-0305.

I hope to hear from you soon.

By Marianne Walker

"The Grave County Boys," was written by Marianne Walker and includes a forward by Joe B. Hall, former coach at the University of Kentucky. It is the true narrative of a basketball team from tiny Cuba, Kentucky who after losing in the finals of the KHSAA State Tournament to neighboring Clark Co. in 1951, returned in 1952 winning the state tournament over mighty Louisville Manual...a bigger than life example of the biblical account of David vs. Goliath.

This book is much more than a story of a winning basketball team. Marianne Walker, with meticulous research, moves "The Grave County Boys" from the story of a great basketball team from a very small community to a historical account of life in a rural Kentucky community in the late 1940s and early 1950s. This reviewer knows the author is "spot on" in her research as he lived the life described right here in rural Pendleton County.

In this book you will become quite intimate with the coach of the Cuba Cubs, the players, the citizens who lived there in the late 1940s and early 1950s and the community as a whole, a community totally absorbed with this very talented team.

When one reads about Cuba one cannot help but compare the little town with Morgan or Butler or even Mt. Auburn in Pendleton County. (Of local interest is the fact that two nearby small schools have won the KHSAA Sweet Sixteen: Corinth in Grant Co. beat Kavanaugh 22-20 in 1939 and Brooksville in Bracken Co. won against Hindman 42-39 in 1939.) Quoting from the author as she closes out her book, "In the last half century or more, small rural schools across the United States have all but disappeared. They have been swallowed up, consolidated into larger ones, despite some objections. Whether or not consolidation has improved American education is debatable."

This book is an easy read and was one of the top ten sellers of the 200 books offered at the 2013 Kentucky Book Fair in Frankfort. A companion study guide is available geared mainly for high school history classes and to benefit teachers who want to use the book in their classrooms.

Marianne Walker will be a guest speaker at the Pendleton County Public Library at 1 p.m., on Saturday, March 8. Come and hear stories behind the writing of, "The Grave County Boys" and pick up an autographed copy for family and friends.

Jack Caldwell announces candidacy for magistrate district four

I, Jack Caldwell, announce my candidacy for Magistrate District 4, which includes the precincts of Pendleton County Library, Oakland and Blanket Creek. I am a lifelong resident of Pendleton County. I was born and raised in the Gardnersville community, being the second of four sons of Jack and Rosaline Ramsey Caldwell. On December 8, 2013 I celebrated 40 years of marriage to my high school sweetheart, Dian Price Caldwell, daughter of Louise Price and the late Joe Price. We have two daughters, Aleasha (Kevin) Graves and Marshasha (Brent) Yelton and a granddaughter Kelly Ann Graves. Family and Christian values were the foundation that I was raised on, and I continue to instill them in my life and that of my family.

For 20 years Dian and I owned and operated Caldwell Trucking Inc., working side by side to develop a successful business. For the past 10 years I have been employed by the Pendleton County Fiscal

JACK CALDWELL

Court as a road worker at the Pendleton County Road Department. Also, Dian and I currently own and operate JC's Mowers and Equipment; a small mower/lawn equipment business. Owning and operating my personal businesses have provided me with experience in the day to day operations of a business; including working with the public and handling finances and budgets. My experience with the road department and owning/operating my businesses provides me with the knowledge of maintaining and repairing the trucks and equipment it takes to keep our county roads in top condition. My personal and professional experience will allow me to best serve Pendleton County and help it run in an efficient and effective manner.

I promise to do the best job I can for our county while working in unison with my fellow constituents. I will not make hasty decisions and will weigh all possible solutions to any problems that may arise. The growth and prosperity of our county is my number one concern.

As I begin my campaign travels, my intentions are to visit every person in the Magisterial District 4. If I miss anyone, I apologize in advance. I do ask that you exercise your right to vote on Tuesday, May 20. I feel that I am the best candidate for this position, and I would greatly appreciate your vote.

"Your concerns for Pendleton County are my concerns."

Sonny Caldwell announces candidacy for Pendleton County judge executive

To the citizens of Pendleton County. For those who do not know me, my name is Sonny Caldwell. I am seeking your support as Pendleton County's next judge executive.

I am the eldest son of the late Jack and Rosaline Ramsey Caldwell of Gardnersville, grandson of the late Lawrence and Edith Brann Caldwell of Gardnersville, and grandson of the late Hughie and Ursula King Ramsey of Neave. I was raised on a dairy, beef, and tobacco farm in Gardnersville where I learned the values of hard work, commitment, honesty, fairness, and a penny saved is a penny earned. I know what it's like to spend days in the field, milking cows, and cleaning out the dairy barn; regardless of the weather. During the summer, I also worked at Bowen's Farm Supply in Gardnersville.

Immediately following graduation from Pendleton County Memorial High School, I started a successful and robust career with AT&T. During my career at AT&T, I held many levels of supervisory positions managing different work groups and budgets. I learned the importance of building strong working relationships, motivating people to do their best, and creating inter-departmental teams to meet specific business objectives. As a project manager, I was responsible to deliver projects that reduced millions of dollars in operating expense and improved customer time to service. During the last nine years of my career I advanced to the position of network operations district manager supporting an organization of 122 people with a $14 million dollar operating expense and capital budget. After over 37 years of employment with AT&T, I decided to retire. After retiring, I have been a real estate broker with RE/MAX Advantage Partners. I understand money, I understand development, I understand business, I understand commitment, and most of all I understand the value of hard work.

Currently, my wife Linda and I reside on our farm in the Gardnersville community where we have a small cow-calf herd. Many of you have been to our home to enjoy tea when Linda operated, Country Manor Tea Room and Gifts. Linda and I have five children. We are blessed with wonderful grandchildren. Linda and I attend Piner Baptist Church where we are active members.

I have been asked why I am seeking election as Pendleton County judge executive. I want to use my experience, my skills, my energy, and my passion to work that will accomplish results meeting the needs and serving the citizens of Pendleton County. I am ready, able, and willing to go to work for the citizens of Pendleton County. For me, that opportunity will be an honor and a privilege.

Thank you for your consideration of me as judge executive. I look forward to meeting and talking with each voter in the coming months.

Fields running for office of county judge

My name is David S. Fields and I would like to announce my candidacy for Pendleton County Judge Executive. It would be a great honor to be elected and to serve the constituents of this county.

I'm 49 years old, a lifelong resident of Pendleton County and a 1983 graduate of Pendleton County High School. I am an active member of the Mt. Moriah Christian Church. My parents are Larry and Janice Fields also of Pendleton County. I'm married to Darci (Smith) Fields and together we have four daughters Amber, Hannah, Kourtne, Kendall and one granddaughter Jordyn.

I've been employed at the East Pendleton County Water District for the last 15 years, 10 years as assistant manager. My management position at the Water District has given me the opportunity to acquire skills and knowledge that would assist me in serving as judge executive.

I have served on our Fiscal Court as Pendleton County Magistrate (District 4) for last three years. In this position I have enjoyed and taken pride in representing the constituents of the district and the county. Serving as a county magistrate and being a part of making fiscal decisions for the county, I feel has given me valuable knowledge and experience to serve the residents of the county through the office I seek as Pendleton County Judge Executive.

I am looking forward to putting my experience to work for the citizens of Pendleton County and I would appreciate your vote on November 4, 2014.

BBB warning: website scam targets military

BBB Military Line is sharing information from the U.S. Army's Criminal Investigation Command (CIC) warning about a new website scam in which criminals are attempting to take advantage of soldiers and their families.

The "My Army Benefits" website at usmilitarybenefit.org is a fraudulent site designed to "collect soldiers' Army Knowledge Online, email accounts and passwords." The site also falsely claims that "the U.S. military has granted access to unclaimed and accumulated benefits for active duty soldiers, and that benefits not claimed within the stipulated period will be available for claims after 60 months," according to investigators.

The website is not affiliated or endorsed by the U.S. Army. The Army's official website is "MyArmyBenefits" at myarmybenefits.us.army.mil.

us.army.mil.

"Official military websites will all have the .mil domain name," notes BBB Military Line director Brenda Linnington. "Any other domain extension should be a red flag." Other red flags include unsolicited emails or text messages; spelling, punctuation and grammar errors; requests for private information such as email addresses or passwords.

Fraudulent websites come and go quickly (and it appears this one may have been taken down already), but others pop up in their place. Service personnel, family members and veterans need to be especially alert to scams that target them.

"Unfortunately, we hear about new ones almost every day," says Linnington.

CIC provided the following advice for anyone who has received correspondence from the My Army benefits website or provided information through it:

- Do not log in to the website;
- Do not respond to any emails;
- Stop all contact if you have previously responded to any emails; and
- Immediately contact your local information assurance office if you accessed the website from a government computer or system.

Since 2004, BBB Military Line has provided free resources to our military communities in the areas of financial literacy and consumer protection through the efforts of local BBBs across the U.S. Visit us at bbb.org/military for more

Forums begin in Bracken Co. to combat heroin

By Wendy Mitchell,
The Ledger Independent

From a poppy plant to a salable heroin product, the facts of the increase in heroin use and heroin-related deaths are in national headlines and local obituaries.

Bracken County officials are hosting two forums to help inform the public of the dangers and increase of use of heroin in the local area.

"I believe there is not a family in Bracken County who has not been touched by heroin use in some way. That is how bad it is," said Bracken County Sheriff Howard Niemeier. "Parents have to start believing it is out there, and a threat to their children or we will never get a handle on it."

On March 3, 6-8 p.m., at the Clooney Community Center in Augusta, and on March 17 at the Bracken County Extension Office in Brooksville, "Heroin is Here" forums will be held.

Included in the forums will be medical professionals, law enforcement, treatment providers and families who have seen first hand what the drug can do, as guest speakers and panelists.

"We have been trying to hammer the message home with the kids in the SALUTE program," Niemeier said. "We are finding people overdosed along the highways and I don't know what the answer is. I do know the answer is not to have the federal government cut funding and throw in the towel, dumping the expense of the mess onto local communities."

Heroin is the processed extract of resin from the papaver somniferum plant, commonly called a opium poppy.

Processing of the gum-like substance includes conversion from opium sap to morphine to heroin.

According to 2013 National Drug Threat Assessment Summary data, heroin use and resulting deaths have been on the rise as the drug became more readily available and a cheaper alternative to cocaine.

According to the report, "The availability of heroin continued to increase in 2012, likely due to high levels of heroin production in Mexico and Mexican traffickers expanding into white powder heroin markets in the eastern and mid-west United States."

According to Van Ingram, director of the Kentucky Office of Drug Control Policy, "Statewide heroin overdose deaths increased by 650 percent last year and the trend appears to be continuing. As of this date, there were 876 total overdose deaths reported; with 27 percent of those deaths having heroin in their bloodstream. There were 1,567 heroin trafficking charges statewide from Jan. 1, 2013 to Sept. 30, 2013."

According to 2012 statistics from Ingrams office, 12 deaths per 100,000 population were drug related in Bracken County, 17 per 100,000 in Mason County, 10 per 100,000 in Fleming County, 14 per 100,000 in Lewis County and 45 per 100,000 in Robertson County.

In the past, the quality of heroin was in the 10 percent pure range requiring users to inject the drug. A higher quality product circulating these days, in the 50 to 60 percent pure range, allowing users to snort instead of inject, risking diseases related to needle use, users are also increasing risk of death from use.

According to the report, "Unlike with prescription drugs, heroin purity and dosage amounts vary, and heroin is often cut with other substances, all of which could cause inexperienced abusers to accidentally overdose."

According to Bracken County Coroner John Parker, he has seen heroin emerge as the cause of one death in Bracken County in 2013, with previous drug-related deaths linked to prescription drug overdoses.

"This is terrible and we are seeing it everywhere. The only way to ever stop it is to change and raise a generation of children who are drug free," Niemeier said. "I don't see that happening but we have to try."

Niemeier is one of the guest panelists at the Bracken forums.

Similar forums are scheduled later in the spring in Mason, Lewis and Fleming counties.

Sponsored by the Buffalo Trace Agency for Substance Abuse Policy, information on the forums is also available by contacting the Regional Prevention Center of Comprehend inc. at 606-759-7799.

Ky. Farm Bureau celebrates "Food Check-Out Day"

Betty Farris, chair of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Women's Committee (right), made a special trip to the state capitol in Frankfort on February 19 to present Senator Katie Stine (left) with a basket of Kentucky-made products in recognition of "Food Check-Out Day." Kentucky Farm Bureau hosts this event each year in mid-February to mark the date when the average American has earned enough income to meet his or her annual cost of food - about 10 percent of a person's disposable income, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Phyllis Kelsch recognized as Cincinnati Children's Hospital Volunteer of the Month

There is a quote by an unknown author that reads, "When life gives you trouble: you can get bitter or better. You can go under or you can go on." In the case of Phyllis Kelsch, she has chosen to get better and to go on, despite the troubles life has given her. Phyllis has lived a lifetime of giving, as a teacher at Northern Elementary and as an assistant principal at Phillip Sharp Middle School, as a wife and a mother and as a grandmother.

Sometimes the hardest part of giving is when life takes what we are unwilling to let go of. In 2000, Phyllis lost her husband Lee to a major heart attack. This loss was just the start to her troubles.

Three years later she was diagnosed with breast cancer. Fortunately, a routine mammogram detected the lump and early detection saved her life. After having the lump removed, Phyllis received four rounds of chemotherapy and 30 treatments of radiation. Despite the side effects, one of the more difficult being the loss of her hair, she never missed a day of school.

Today, she is a part of the Kentucky Thorough-Breasts Dragonboat Team. They are a part of an organization of breast cancer survivors committed to breast cancer awareness. The team was formed in 2008 and includes breast cancer survivors and supporters.

Then she lost a wonderful nephew, Stephen Elrod, in July 2009, in a freak accident on a foggy morning while driving to work. But the troubles weren't over yet.

In March 2011, her youngest granddaughter was born with the most severe form of spina bifida, known as myelomeningocele, which usually results in paralysis and fluid in or around the brain. Little Bella O'Hara, who is now almost three years old, has already been through nine surgeries at Cincinnati Children's Hospital Medical Center. Like her grandmother, Bella has a "no quit" attitude. Everywhere she goes, she brightens things up and lifts spirits.

Rather than emerge from

all her troubles in bitterness, Phyllis says, "When I retired in July of that year, I decided to start doing more things for others to show that you can get through tough times when life doesn't seem fair."

In March of 2012, she began volunteering at Children's Hospital in the Child Life in the Cancer and Blood Disorder Unit and in Guest Services and continues to do so every Tuesday. In November of 2013, she was recognized as Volunteer of the Month. "As a volunteer I see and hear so many tragic stories," shares Phyllis. "But you can't let those circumstances bring you down. You may be a bright spot in the patient's day. Sometimes the parents just need someone to listen, and the children want to get their minds off what they are going through. I try to be that outlet for both parties."

Phyllis gets toys for the children, organizes their toy closet, creates activities, sits with the children and plays with them and helps entertain their siblings when the parents are with the nurses or doctors. She also works in the guest services entering data, arranging transportation, providing hotel accommodations, locating tickets to local events such as the Cincinnati Zoo, the Newport Aquarium, etc. for out of town visitors to the hospital.

She is also vice president of the Mt. Auburn Homemakers. One of their projects is making burp cloths and bibs for the babies at Children's Hospital.

Along with the troubles in her life, Phyllis has been richly blessed. She has four children, Kellie (Nick) Turner, Kent (Candice), Jenna (Mason) O'Hara and Natalie and six wonderful grandchildren, Mackie, Mackenna, Carson, Kensleigh, Kamden and Bella. Along with being a wife, mother and grandmother, she gave 38 and a half years to the Pendleton County School System impacting many lives, co-workers and students.

"Phyllis was outstanding to work with," praised Jeff Aulick, former principal at Phillip Sharp Middle School. "Her priority in any decision she made was to keep her students' interest at heart."

"She was a good role model and mentor for me. No matter what job she has she puts 110% into it to see that it was done right."

For Phyllis, giving is an important priority. She recalls one little girl at Children's Hospital who requested a special toy. "I knew we didn't have it in our department," she said. "So I offered her a variety of other options, but she was set on that particular toy. Luckily, I was able to find it in another department. When I returned with it, she jumped from the exam table into my arms and said, 'You found it!' as she smiled from ear to ear. It may have been a small thing to do, but it was worth the effort to see her beautiful smile and get such a special hug."

This example backs up Jeff Aulick's words. "She is very much an encourager. Phyllis is one of a kind."

"I'm blessed," says Phyllis. "I learn so much from watching the parents interact with their children and witnessing their faith in God. We take so much for granted. These families need all the encouragement and support we can provide."

Phyllis shares the belief of so many who give of themselves freely, that when you bless others, you are blessed more greatly in return.

She encourages anyone who is retired or has some free time to volunteer a few hours a week. "I am so blessed, I get back more than I give."

Cockfighting enthusiasts angry with McConnell for supporting farm bill that stiffens penalties

By Sam Youngman and Janet Patton, Lexington Herald-Leader

Add cockfighters to the long list of Kentuckians angry with Senate Minority Leader Mitch McConnell.

McConnell's vote in favor of the federal farm bill has left cockfighting enthusiasts furious and threatening political damage to Kentucky's senior senator in the May 20 Republican primary.

"This will destroy Mitch McConnell in Kentucky," said Craig Davis, president of the United Gamefowl Breeders Association.

At issue is an amendment included in the $956 billion farm bill, approved and signed into law this month, that makes it a federal crime to be a spectator at an animal fight.

The new law makes attending a cockfight or dogfight a federal misdemeanor, punishable by up to a year in prison and $100,000 fine. It makes bringing a minor to such fights a federal felony, punishable by up to three years in prison and a $250,000 fine.

Davis and several hundred cockfighting enthusiasts greeted McConnell, U.S. Sen. Rand Paul and Agriculture Commissioner James Comer in London on Monday as they made a swing through Eastern Kentucky to promote economic development proposals.

In an interview last Tuesday, Davis said the new law could have any number of unintended consequences that make criminals of law-abiding citizens, boasting that he could move as many as 60,000 votes against McConnell if their concerns were not heard.

Paul, who voted against the bill, has escaped the wrath of people who say their "culture and heritage" was misunderstood and wrongly maligned.

"When you make a law like that, you take good taxpaying people and you turn them into criminals overnight," Davis said. "The grass roots on this are not playing games anymore. They've been beaten and battered for 30 years. They're rural people. They want to be left alone."

Davis said a number of his association's members suggested Monday that they turn to Republican challenger Matt

Bevin in the May primary, but Davis said they should wait to see whether McConnell was amenable to hearing them out.

Robert Steurer, a McConnell spokesman, said in an email Tuesday night that "a representative of Sen. McConnell's office would be happy to meet with them to discuss the issue and hear their concerns."

Davis' group also wants the Kentucky legislature to pass a law that would guarantee their right to hold cockfights, much as Kentucky voters amended the state Constitution in 2012 to protect their right to hunt and fish.

John Goodwin, director of animal cruelty policy for The Humane Society of the United States, said cockfighting advocates were right to be concerned.

"All these cockfighting pits in Kentucky are in danger of being put out of business," Goodwin said.

The penalties included in the new federal law put serious teeth into what is already criminal activity, although Kentucky law enforcement officials have rarely cited individuals for the misdemeanor offense.

"I think we're going to get some enforcement," Goodwin said. "Law enforcement agents all across the country are really tired of these cockfighting pits because they see the cruelty, but they see these pits are magnets for other crime as well."

Goodwin cited a 2008 Drug Enforcement Agency bust of a Cumberland County, Tenn., cockfighting ring linked to a Mexican drug cartel.

Cockfighting is a felony offense in a majority of states, but the risk of being caught in Kentucky has been more than offset by gambling profits, Goodwin said.

In 2010, for example, The Humane Society released a video showing a Kentucky State Police trooper and another law enforcement officer attending cockfights in Manchester without taking any action. At the time, House Speaker Greg Stumbo, a former state attorney general, said he wasn't sure cockfighting should be illegal.

"Now, if the feds raid a cockfighting pit, anyone there can pay fines and do prison time," Goodwin said. "All the gambling dollars are not going to offset that. They're starting to figure out, 'Hey, there may not be a future in cockfighting.'"

Ironically, Goodwin said, McConnell probably had nothing to do with the language being inserted into the farm bill.

"He just voted for the farm bill," Goodwin said.

McConnell focused his explanation of support for the bill on a provision that allows states, including Kentucky, to begin growing industrial hemp in pilot projects. Bevin said he would have voted against the bill, citing its cost and the nation's deficit.

Fans of cockfighting are unlikely to find a political patron to take up their cause, Goodwin predicted.

"What they've got to realize is, at the federal level, there's nobody in Congress who wants to buddy up with people engaged in something that is illegal in all 50 states," he said.

The amendment was pushed by Senate Agriculture Committee Chairwoman Debbie Stabenow, D-Mich., who campaigned in Kentucky this week with likely Democratic Senate nominee Alison Lundergan Grimes.

Davis said ties between cockfighting and illegal gambling and drugs were overstated, and his members were willing to let official monitors observe the fights for some measure of legal protection.

For many rural Kentuckians, Davis said, breeding gamefowl is crucial to helping shore up incomes decimated by the decline of coal and a dearth of manufacturing jobs. Hens used for breeding can sell for $100 and roosters can sell for $250, but Davis said two hens and a rooster that come from a winning progeny can fetch as much as $1,500.

Davis said the grassroots movement associated with cockfighters was fed up after three decades of watching their freedoms being taken from them. If McConnell won't listen or help, he said, they would back a candidate who would. "He's thrown us in the gully for 30 years," Davis said. "If Mitch McConnell doesn't help us now, then we're going to drag him down into the gully with us on Election Day."

Do efforts to crack down on prescription drug abuse drive users to heroin?

Nearly 80% of recent heroin initiates started by misusing prescriptions

By Tessie Castillo, The Fix

Let's face it. Our country has a pill problem. Some blame our prescription addiction on an aging population of baby boomers with pain needs. Others point to the frantic pace of work and home obligations that make it easier to pop a capsule than to embrace lifestyle changes. The pharmaceutical industry's aggressive marketing efforts to doctors and patients likely play a role. But however our affair with pills developed, the relationship has turned deadly. Prescription painkiller use has skyrocketed 300% over the past decade, and currently more than 12 million Americans take pain relievers simply to get high. Equally disturbing, the dramatic growth in the availability of prescription opiates has mirrored a surge in heroin use. Nearly 80% of recent heroin initiates now start by misusing prescriptions.

In response to the prescription crisis, the government has launched a formidable campaign to crack down on pill diversion and abuse. Efforts include ramping up law enforcement operations targeted at "pill mills," or illegitimate pain clinics, state implementation of prescription monitoring programs, reformulation of some pain relievers into tamper-resistant capsules, and medication take-back programs. While many of these methods may reduce the availability of abusable prescriptions, there is a growing concern that supply-based interventions don't decrease addiction, but merely divert it.

Case in point, in 2010 Purdue Pharma reformulated OxyContin in a tamper-resistant capsule to make it more difficult to crush for snorting or injecting. Follow up research among residents of drug treatment programs nationwide revealed that while preference for OxyContin dropped 64%, reports of heroin use nearly doubled.

Dr. Caleb Banta-Green, a research scientist at the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Institute at the University of Washington, explains, "Reformulation helped dry up the market for diverted Oxy pills, but it likely pushed some people who were already addicted toward other opiates. In the old days when the main opiate was heroin, there were hurdles, such as difficulty with access, illegality, and stigma that kept a lot of people from starting to use. Now with the phenomenal increase in prescription opiates and the misconception that they are 'safe,' whatever natural percentage of the population that is predisposed towards opiate addiction has much greater chance of developing problems."

With a deadly cocktail of pills available in most medicine cabinets, addictive substances are increasingly accessible, but Uncle Sam has wasted no time choking off the supply through a scramble to implement state prescription monitoring programs (PMPs). PMPs are designed to track patient utilization of medications, physician prescription practices, and pharmacy dispensing in order to flag suspicious behavior. The alerts might result in disciplinary action against a prescriber or pharmacy that gives out too many pills or a patient who appears to be seeking medication from multiple sources. While some hail PMPs as a critical tool to reduce prescription abuse, others raise concerns about the system wrongly flagging people with chronic pain needs, invasion of patient privacy, and the lack of treatment options for addicted patients once they are cut from their drug source.

Dr. Sharon Standcliff, Medical Director at the Harm Reduction Coalition in New York City, works with addicted patients and has used PMP data in her practice, though she has yet to change her treatment plan based on the results. "PMPs are new in most states, so we haven't had a chance to see the effects," she says. "I suspect they will prevent some drug abuse, but we don't know how many patients will turn from prescriptions to heroin. When you get rid of one source of opiates, you don't get rid of addiction. To combat that, we need to make treatment as easy to get as heroin."

If there is a cause and effect relationship between crack-downs on prescription opiates and an increase in heroin use, it's imperative that efforts to reduce drug abuse include prevention and treatment options, as well as new laws and programs designed to prevent accidental deaths from overdose. Fortunately, overdose prevention laws are already gaining momentum. Fourteen states have recently implemented laws that make it easier for people to call 911 in an overdose situation without fear of police reprisal. Additionally, seventeen states have passed legislation to increase public access to naloxone, an antidote that reverses the effects of opiate overdose. Naloxone is safe and effective enough to be administered by nonmedical personnel, such as friends or family of an overdose victim, via intramuscular injection or a nasal spray. Nationwide, community programs have distributed over 53,000 naloxone kits to people at risk for overdose and recorded over 10,000 reversals. Even new programs, such as the Overdose Prevention Project in North Carolina, launched in August of 2013, report one successful reversal for every six distributed kits.

Dr. Banta-Green believes that in addition to controls on opiate prescribing, greater drug treatment access, and efforts to reduce accidental death from overdose, a national discussion is necessary on why we use drugs, licit and illicit, and how to promote wellness in other ways. Given that the drug overdose deaths have now surpassed car accidents as the leading cause of accidental fatalities, one might say that a national discussion on the prescription drug crisis is not only necessary, but overdue.

Correction:

In the February 18th issue of The Falmouth Outlook the date of the fiscal court meeting and the date of the Falmouth City Council meeting are in error. They were both listed as meeting on February 10. Instead both meetings took place on Tuesday, February 11, 2014.

Three honored for Hall of Fame induction

Pendleton County Wildcats honored three Pendleton Countians with their selection into the 10th Region Boys Basketball Coaches Association Hall of Fame at the Wildcats versus Paris game.

Jimmy Hammond, Falmouth Red Devil basketball legend, David Gosney, longtime contributor to PCHS and David Turner, PCHS scoring guard.

Jimmy Hammond is one of the best basketball players to ever play anywhere in the confines of the Pendleton County boundaries. On the last Falmouth High School teams of 1957-60, he scored 2,132 points and grabbed 1,380 rebounds.

He along with Talbert Turner, Jr. and Mason Monroe are the only players to score over 2,000 points in their career based on the stats that we presently have. His 1,380 rebounds is a Pendleton County high and 54 years later stand as 10th in KHSAA history. He is also in rare membership of the 1,000-1,000 club. Thousand career points and rebounds.

He averaged a double-double for his four-year varsity career, 18.5 ppg and 11.3 rpg and led his team to a 10th Region Finals appearance.

David Gosney started contributing to PCHS Wildcats in high school working with the Wildcat team and keeping clock for the JV team in 1987. In 1998 he took over both varsity and JV duties and has spent the past 16+ years keeping clock for regular season games, tournaments and district tournaments. He will be in his familiar position at mid-court of the PCHS gym during this week's 38th District Tournament.

David Turner is a member of the possibly the most prolific scoring brother combinations in KHSAA history. His 1448 career points joins with brothers Talbert Jr and Bill for over 6,000 combined points.

His final game may have been his best. He scored 36 points in the first half versus West Carter in late December of his senior season. He finished with 53 points in the game that was a season high in KHSAA. He did it all on a torn ACL that he had suffered the previous game. He was named All-Region is junior year and would have surely been a two-time honoree if he had not suffered a season-ending injury.

Wildcat

"This is a great opportunity for the four who began playing together in elementary and went all the way through high school," said Director of Athletics Keith Smith. "We are always thrilled to see our athletes get to fulfill their dreams of playing at the next level."

KCU head coach Jeremy Miller said he was impressed with the group of young men from the first time he met them last July during the Bluegrass Games pre-season tournament.

"I feel very good about these guys coming in and having many positive contributions to our program. At KCU we look for high-character people as well as stellar athletes. And to get four players from the same school is very unique. This is just my second year as being head coach, and I look forward to growing with these players in the years to come," said Miller.

The ceremony marked a bittersweet occasion for Lisa Feltner. She began coaching the signees in eighth grade and served as head coach of the Wildcats from 2009-13. She played a big role in the players initial recruitment process and was on hand to watch her former players take that first step to the next level.

"I am so proud of these guys. They all had great careers and overcame a lot of adversity to get to where they are today. Throughout their careers they learned to play many different positions and always stepped up in the big moments. I could also see some of them being coaches in their own right some day," said Feltner.

During the ceremony each player spoke highly of coach Feltner while also saying they were looking forward to proudly representing PCHS at the collegiate level.

School District accepting nominations for Outstanding Employee of the Year

We can all think of someone while we were in school that made a difference to us. Most of us might remember a particular teacher or instructional assistant that helped us learn. To some it might have been the lunch lady that gave an extra scoop of mash potatoes, or that bus driver that waited the extra second as a students was running out the door late, or the custodian that helped us unlock a jammed locker. Maybe some remember a principal or district administrator that encouraged us on a test or at an event. Regardless of who it was, the district wants to honor them for what they have done for the children and the schools.

Pendleton County Schools is asking for nominations from the schools and the community for the outstanding certified and classified employee of the year. To be nominated, the employee should exhibit qualities that show they made a difference in the life of a student, or make a difference in the success of the school. Nomination forms are available at the Board of Education office & on the district website www.pendleton.kyschools.us. Nominations for these recognitions will be accepted in the office of the Pendleton County Board of Education until March 10, 2014. A committee consisting of representatives from each of the buildings will select the recipients of these awards.

These awards will be presented at the annual Pendleton County Chamber of Commerce Banquet and Awards Ceremony on April 12. The School District would like to thank the Chamber for allowing them the time during their program to recognize these outstanding employees. If you have any questions please contact Billie Jo Chaplin at 654-6911.

Look out for youth fast pitch/ baseball registration forms

With Valentine's Day passed and temperatures starting to rise to the 60's this week, thoughts will soon turn from the diamonds of Jared's to the diamonds of the baseball/ softball field.

Pendleton County Recreation is finishing up their final organization of the spring fast pitch and baseball leagues and registration forms will be distributed the last week of February.

Early Bird registration of $50 will end March 14.

Registration of $60 will end March 27.

Any registration turned in after March 28 will be $75.

Registration forms will be available starting February 24 at:

- Pendleton County local government website www.pendletoncounty.ky.gov and click on Recreation/Sports;

- Pendleton Recreation Department at Griffin Fitness Center between hours of 5-9 p.m., Monday-Friday;

- Front offices of Southern Elementary, Northern Elementary or Sharp Middle School;

- Distributed to males in the appropriate grades at Southern, Northern and Sharp;

- Available at Wildcat Baseball Youth Clinic/Meet the Team on March 8 starting at 2:30.

While final division setups will be determined by number of participants, generally 4-year-olds through 1st grade will be in T-ball, 2nd and 3rd graders in Machine Pitch and 4th-6th graders in Kid's Pitch.

First practices are planned for the week of April 7, weather permitting.

Festival Committee to serve breakfast

Please come and join the Falmouth Festival Committee for breakfast at Edwardo's on Saturday, March 1.

Again, they will serve the homemade biscuits and gravy, sausage, bacon, cereal, fruit, your beverage plus juice is included in the price of $8 per adult, $5 for children eight and under.

All proceeds go toward Fourth of July festivities. Again, ten free tickets for all adults.

Breakfast will be served from 7 - 11 a.m.

Ladycats win three of last four

After a season in which the Ladycats lost 14 of their first 15 games, Pendleton County has finished the season on a high note winning three of their last four games. After a win over Silver Grove on Senior Night last week, they started the final week of the season with a victory over St. Patrick 48-20 and in the final game of the regular season over Lloyd, 42-39. They finished the season with a 4-15 record.

"I think players have started to show some growth since we knew going in this season would be about gaining experience," coach Scott Collins commented on his Ladycats finish to the regular season. "They are becoming familiar playing together as a team which takes some time to develop."

Only junior point guard Isabella Hall returned with any significant varsity experience. Fellow starters and juniors Catlyne Nuckels and Amber Blackaby were getting their first experience as key varsity contributors. Sophomore Amberly Purdy was being asked to go from freshmen and JV scorer to being a varsity level scorer. Post players sophomore Alex Blackaby and freshmen Nicki Mason and Sydne Tillet were getting their first tests in guarding older and stronger inside players.

As the season developed, 8th grader Madison Wyatt proved to be a solid offensive threat and moved into the starting lineup while 8th grader Anna Askren and 7th grader Summer Secrist became valuable substitutes who played significant minutes.

The young Cats have a first round matchup in the 38th District Tournament against Harrison County with the strong inside presence of Jordan Doram.

Coach Collins pointed out, "Harrison County will definitely test us with their size and most of their players already have experienced the district atmosphere."

"We have put in a couple of things we hope will give us an advantage from the game earlier in the season."

Pendleton showed the balance and depth of their young roster by placing 10 of 11 players in the scoring column against St. Patrick. Isabella and Anna led the way with eight apiece and Madison finished with seven. Nicki and Amberly tallied five each. The Cats defense was the star in the game though as they held St. Pat to just 20 points overall and eight in the first half as they built a 21-8 lead. A dominating 16-2 third quarter in which six Ladycats scored salted the game away for PC.

Ladycats: Secrist 2 0 4, Hall 4 0 8, Nuckles 1 2 4, Wyatt 3 1 7, Purdy 2 1 5, Sheppard 1 1 3, Askren 4 0 8, Al Blackaby 1 0 2, Tillet 0 2 2, Mason 2 1 5, Totals 18 7 48.

Saints: McKay 2 1 5, F Gutierrez 2 0 4, Hay 2 2 6,

Gibson 1 0 2, Mason 1 1 3, Total 8 4 20

After a 65-23 loss to Cooper, the Cats played their most complete and best game of the season versus Lloyd who had won 10 times on the season.

After Lloyd took a 7-3 lead after the opening eight minutes, the Cats played even during a 12-12 second quarter to trail 19-15 at the half. Pendleton wasn't able to cut in the lead in the 3rd as each team scored 14 but the Cats trailed only by four points going into the last quarter.

Catlyne Nuckels was in the midst of her best game of the season hitting four 3-pointers and scoring 14 points. Isabella Hall was leading all scorers scoring 17 points in three quarters of play. The two would combine for 11 4th quarter points as PC's defense tightened and held Lloyd to just two baskets and six total points.

With the top 10 players returning next season, the Ladycats will be building off the success they had over the final part of the season and looking for more winning streaks.

Ladycats: Hall 6 5 17, Nuckles 5 0 14, Wyatt 2 0 5, Purdy 2 2 6, Totals 15 7 42. 3-pointers Nuckles 4, Wyatt 1

Juggernauts: Brown 2 1 5, Cheatum 5 2 15, Sheppard 4 1 11, Thompson 0 2 2, Staggie 2 2 6, Totals 13 8 39. 3-pointers Cheatum 3, Sheppard 2

Wildcats set to host Harrison in Districts

By Sam McClanahan, Reporter

The Wildcats basketball team wrapped up its regular season last week and is now set to host rival Harrison County tonight in the 38th District Tournament.

Since the districts were re-aligned in 2006, the Wildcats and Thorobreds have met in the opening round six times with each team owning three victories apiece. Last year, Harrison County ousted the Cats with a 59-40 win.

Pendleton County finished the regular season with a 9-18 record. The last win came eight days ago on the road at Bourbon County. Senior guard Lance Jones led the way with a game-high 17 points as the Cats notched a 49-42 win. Tanner Pugh added 12 points to go along with four rebounds and three assists.

The final two games resulted in losses. Last Thursday, the team traveled to Paris and despite a furious fourth quarter effort in which they outscored the opposition 29-17, the team came up short in a 71-64 defeat. Jordan Wilson and Wade Browning each led the team with 11 points while Lance Jones chipped in with 10. The Wildcats defense had no answer for Paris Greyhound senior guard Cameron Downey, who finished with a game-high 27 points behind 11 of 17 shooting from the field. Paris shot a blistering 69 percent (27 of 39) for the game.

The regular season concluded with a road matchup at Campbell County. Despite coming into the game with a season-high three-game losing streak, the Camels had no trouble earning its sixteenth win of the season with a 92-55 rout.

The Cats will be counting on a home-court advantage to help them advance to the 10th Region Tournament. Tip-off for Tuesday night's showdown with Harrison County is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Board discusses suggested conflict of interest

By Roger McKinney, Reporter

The Pendleton County Board of Education held its regularly scheduled meeting on February 20, 2014 in the Phillip A. Sharp Middle School Training Room. Chairman of the Board Mark Ross was absent and Dr. William Verax, vice chairman, presided over the meeting. When the meeting moved into the Consent Agenda board member Shawn Nordheim said she had looked at the Orders of the Treasurer and saw the recent lease of two new pickup trucks. Nordheim stated that she googled Paul Miller Ford dealership that leased out the vehicles and noticed that their director of sales was named Strong. Nordheim asked Superintendent Anthony Strong if this individual was related to him. Superintendent Strong answered that it was no secret that his younger brother worked there. In fact, he said he had told her that very thing before. Nordheim said she didn't recall the conversation. Nordheim asked if that was a conflict. Strong responded by explaining that when the board initially voted to lease/purchase the trucks that he explained the pricing was part of the general price concession negotiated by the state of Kentucky for all government agencies. Any governmental agency purchasing trucks from this price contract would receive the same price. He went on to further explain that the dealership has a specific person that is in charge of fleet sales that agencies work with and that his brother is not part of that process. Board member Nordheim said that in many states the superintendent of schools was considered a member of the board and if this was true, wouldn't the lease of the two trucks be a conflict of interest?

School Board Attorney Don Ruberg answered, "Not in Kentucky! In Kentucky the superintendent is considered the executive agent of the board. In Kentucky the superintendent is not a member of the board of education. Conflict of interest policies that apply to board members do not apply to him. Board policies that refer to his status as a certified employee apply to him."

Attorney Ruberg said that Superintendent Strong did not lease the trucks. "The board leased the trucks (in December 2013). He may have recommended to the members of the board that they lease the trucks, but he himself, did not lease the trucks." Ruberg said Nordheim's suggestion that there could be a conflict of interest was inappropriate and unfair. "The time to bring the issue up," he said, "was before the vote to lease, not after the fact." Ruberg toward the end of the entire discussion did state that upon further review of board policy that the superintendent had no conflict of interest in this matter.

Acting Chairman Dr. William Verax said "I knew that Superintendent Strong's brother worked at the dealership and I did not consider it a conflict of interest. A Kentucky superintendent is not a member of the board, so the issue is moot."

Board member, Daryl Mullins said "If our board cannot make a purchase from a business because one of our relatives works there, then we couldn't buy from Ace Hardware, we couldn't buy from Wyatt's, we couldn't buy locally at all."

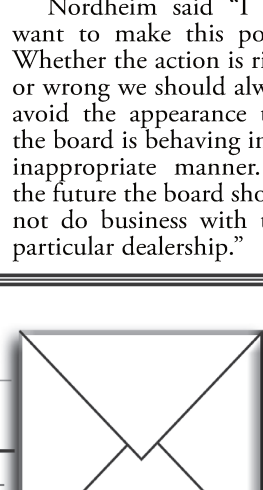

Nordheim said "I just want to make this point: Whether the action is right or wrong we should always avoid the appearance that the board is behaving in an inappropriate manner. In the future the board should not do business with that particular dealership."

BERLIN BAPTIST
We invite all to come and worship with our family of believers. Sunday services begin with Sunday school at 10 a.m., morning worship at 11 a.m., and Sunday night services are held at 7 p.m., message by Bro. Dan Black.

This past Sunday was a wonderful time in the Lord at Berlin Baptist Church. Bro. Dan's message was taken from II Corinthians 5:17-21 and titled, "Without Christ your life is in total opposition of God. With Christ all things are new." Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold all things are become new.

BLANKET CREEK
After special music by Chrissy Trent, "I Know a Man who Can," Bro. Joe brought the message, "What is to be done with God and what will you do with God's Word." Scripture was Numbers chapter 20. There are four things you should not do with God's word: don't rebel against it, don't refuse to listen to it, do not reject His commandments and don't resist His word when it is presented to you.

There are three things you should do with God: make peace with your enemy and not have a hardened heart, receive the word of God for he loves everyone and hide His words in your heart so you will not forget them. What will you do with God?

Please pray for all on the prayer list. Added this week was Deby Hall and the families of Betty Jones and Wilma Florence. Also remember our military, our pastor and especially our church. When things are going well and souls are saved Satan is stronger than ever.

Please join us at 9:45 and 11 a.m., or evenings at 7 p.m., each Sunday. Have a blessed week.

BUTLER METHODIST
Pastor Brian's message to us this Sunday was about choices. Are we making the right choices? Are we choosing to serve and seek the Lord?

The ladies will be meeting on Friday night and will have a dish towel shower for our kitchen. The men will meet on Saturday morning and will be handing out the food pantry boxes. Thanks to both groups for all you do for this church.

The new series, "24 Hours That Changed the World" is beginning for Wednesday night Bible study getting ready for the Easter season.

Upcoming Emmaus Walk is March 6-9 for men and March 13-15 for the ladies.

The District UMW officers will be meeting at our church on Saturday morning.

Please pray for Brooke Brooks, Brandon Love's wife, Becca's co-worker's daughter, Granny Bird, Anna's sister, the Shelton family's passing of Thurston, Dorothy Taylor, Kathy Craddock, Courtney family (Janet), Beverly's mother's safe travels on mission trip to Africa and praises for answered prayer.

Come join us for services this Sunday. Morning worship begins at 11. Hope to see you there. God bless and keep you.

CHAPEL OF PRAISE
Praise the Lord, for He is faithful. We certainly have had a lot of snow in the month of February. Here's a couple of verses in the Bible that mention snow. "Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean: wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow." Psalms 51:7. "Come now, and let's reason together, faith in the Lord: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool." Isaiah 1:18. In I John 1:9 we read, "If we confess our sins He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." With our sins under the blood of Jesus we are white as snow; isn't that amazing.

Come and visit us at The Chapel, have a blessed week.

FALMOUTH BAPTIST
Blessings from the Falmouth Baptist Church. We invite and encourage you to stop by and worship with us at 4th and Maple. Morning worship begins at 10:45 a.m., and evening services are at 7 p.m.

Troy Wolfe blessed us with a beautiful song titled, "I'll Be Back." Thank you Troy for sharing your talent with us.

"Behold, as for the proud one, his soul is not right within him; but the righteous will live by his faith." ~ Habakkuk 2:4

Bro. Cohen and Angie have begun their seventh year of ministry here at Falmouth Baptist Church. They have been a tremendous blessing to our church and to our community. We praise God for sending them our way and we looking forward to serving with them for many years to come.

The message this week asked if we are running to God or are we running away from Him? In Philipians 3, Paul encourages us to run to God. A person's relationship with Christ is more important than anything else. To know Christ should be our ultimate goal!

FALMOUTH CHRISTIAN
Bro. Rick's message was from Ezekiel 20:1-31 titled, "I Am The Lord Your God."

Israel was a rebellious people, they would not listen to God, if they had, they would have lived in the land of milk and honey instead of the wilderness. They wanted to worship idols and to have their own way. Sometimes the truth hurts, when we don't listen. We have money for worldly things but we never seem to have anything left for God. People are polluting their mind, body and soul with worldly things. When we are on the top of that big mountain and everything is great, we don't need God, but when we are down in that valley, we are crying out for God to help us. Give your heart only to God. Being saved is something to shout about!

Pray for the sick and the lost.

Falmouth Christian would like to have you join our family.

FALMOUTH WESLEYAN
Pastor Nick compared the encounters Jesus had with two rich men. The "rich young ruler" and the chief tax collector named Zacchaeus, who was changed after his encounter, while the other walked away sad and unchanged. We need to know the difference in the encounters so we can be changed by Jesus as well.

First, like Zacchaeus, we must seek after Jesus the person. We do not do to receive the inheritance of eternal life. We simply inherit it when we receive the love of God through the person of Jesus Christ.

Secondly, His love will cause us to respond in obedience. If we seek Jesus only to get more we will be unable to obey. The rich young ruler could not obey Jesus' suggestion to sell all and give to the poor, because he wanted more.

Thirdly, like Zacchaeus, we must spend time with Jesus. Without saying a word or a command, he wanted to make right all the wrongs he had done. The love of God was now in his heart.

We are starting a series on Sunday nights called, "Resisting the Green Dragon." It concerns biblical and environmental issues Christians need to understand. Please join us at 6 p.m., on this journey!

FIRST BAPTIST
Our February 16 service was blessed with special music by Mike Whaley! Our attendance was down due to the weather, but the love of God prevailed.

Bro. Harry's message, "Follow Me," was taken from John. It tells how Jesus chose His disciples. Some left who they were following and followed Jesus. God knows our hearts and our needs, but He wants us to follow Him.

We have many names on our prayer list. Pray for the lost, the sick, those who have lost loved ones, our military, our community and our country.

Visit First Baptist Church if you are looking for a loving church family. Everyone is welcome.

"God understands our prayers, even when we can't find the words to say them!"

HARVEST COMMUNITY
Bro. Damian's morning message was titled, "Will you be my Valentine?" Based on scripture text of I Corinthians 13:1-13. Love is the greatest of all human qualities and it is an attribute of God Himself. Love involves unselfish service to others; to show it gives evidence that you care. God's kind of love is directed outward toward others, not inward toward ourselves. The more we become like Christ, the more love we will show to others.

Many thanks to Bro. Damian, Mandi and the youth for the second annual Valentine Appreciation meal Sunday evening. Everyone enjoyed delicious food, fun games, wonderful fellowship and being waited on.

Prayer concerns: LR Faulkner, Daryl Roberts, Jim Bergman, Kenny Ramsey and Sondra Clark.

Come worship with us at 111 E. Shelby St. "And now these three remain: faith, hope and love. But the greatest of these is love." I Corinthians 13:13.

MT. MORIAH
Sunday, February 16, was another snowy day but spirits were high as the Mt. Moriah congregation met at the Senior Citizens Center. Bro. Breeden's sermon was on, "Spiritual Vision." As Christians we do not "look back," we look forward to the future in doing God's work.

Mt. Moriah will again be participating in Project Grad. We are also happy to be a part of the Firehouse Ministry. This activity is very successful and is a great place for the young people in our county. Mt. Moriah will also be sending volunteer workers to Versailles to help clean and repair a building at the Methodist Boys' Home.

We thank Billy Shepherd for cleaning the snow from the entrances to the Senior Center for our worship service. Sadly "mother nature" saw fit to cover them again!

Our prayer list includes Leon Galloway, Leva Kidd, Matt Davis, Scott Sharp, Betty Ammerman, Latisha Perdan, Jimmy Lewis and daughter, Elwood Moore, the Oldendick babies and "Little Ellie" who is improving. There are also many unspoken prayer requests and prayers for our community. We extend sympathy to the family of Betty Jones.

"The Lord is close to the brokenhearted and saves those who are crushed in spirit." Psalms 34:18.

NEW HOPE
In February, Northern Kentucky became the focus of millions of people. There was a debate over whether creationism is a viable method of science. The heart of the issue is whether we can believe and trust the Bible. The Holy Spirit guided about 40 men, over a period of 1,500 years and using two main languages to produce the Bible. It has been translated into most of the known languages around the world and it is the most influential book in the world. Can we trust it? Yes. God gave us evidence to believe it. At New Hope, we do discuss these issues in lessons, sermons and VBS material. On our website, www.nhccfalmouth.com, we have some 15 minute sermons under the heading of, "Bible Basics." Some of those sermons address these issues. We encourage you to listen to these podcasts that discuss how we can believe and trust the Bible.

NEW ZION
Come join us for worship and Christian fellowship. Sunday school begins at 10 a.m., morning worship is at 11 a.m., evening worship starts at 6:30 p.m.

Upcoming opportunities: at 5:30 p.m., on March 2 there will be a deacons meeting and at 6 p.m., a WMU meeting. At 6 p.m., on March 7 we will have a movie and pizza pajama party for all the kids. "The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament showeth his handiwork." Psalm 19:1.

Please remember in prayer David Hale, Sadie and Hannah Perkins, Pandora, David, Pam Bruin, Kurt Russell, Charity, Tina Teegarden Jeannie Tate and the Finn family. Also pray for our country and its leaders.

OAKLAND CHRISTIAN
Good news! We are on the good side of winter and spring is bound to show up sometime! We had a good crowd in our worship service. Bro. Jim reminded us to, "pray up!" Pray with a sense of humbleness, urgency, and expectation. God will answer!

We rejoice as Jon Hopp placed his membership with God's family at Oakland.

The sixth grade and up trip to Perfect North Slopes has been rescheduled for March 1, the van will be leaving church at 9 a.m.

The memorial service for Bro. Eudell Hall is at 6:30 p.m., on March 2. Come share with us.

Bro. Jim will be leading a Wednesday night prayer/Bible study beginning at 6:30 p.m., March 5.

Prayer concerns include Pam Bruin, Bro. Wayne Smith (278 Hill n' Dale, Lexington, 40504), Greg Ramsey, Leva Kidd, Jim Wright, Della Fossitt, Elmer Roseberry, Denny Stahl, Lily McCann, Darryl Roberts, Marilyn Jarvis, shut-ins, cancer issues, armed forces and our leaders.

PLEASANT RIDGE
Happy birthday Sherry Dewald!

Sweet hour of prayer that calls me from a world of care. Missionary moments was about connecting with others. "But love your enemies and do good, and lend, hoping for nothing again and your reward shall be great." Like 6:35-38.

Bro. Rick's message was from Song of Solomon. Solomon wrote 3,000 proverbs and 1,005 songs. Only this one survives. The Rabbi's were embarrassed and shocked by the wording of this song. Why is this love poem in the midst of our scripture. It is believed to be an allegory of Christ and His church. But the name of God is not mentioned in the song. You can read genuine love in this song. Draw near to God and He will draw near to you.

Sunday evening Bible study will be from various books of the Bible on Christian belief.

SOUTHSIDE
On February 16, Bro. Kenny Allender, worship leader, led the congregation with the opening hymn, "Stand Up, Stand Up for Jesus." Bro. Clay Sullivan preached the sermon, "Weather Report" from Matthew 16:1-20. Bro. Clay preached on how we must interpret the signs, not the seasons and how we must cling to the Rock, which is Jesus. The memory verse for the week comes from I Peter 5:8, "Be self-controlled and alert. Your enemy the devil prowls around like a roaring lion looking for someone to devour."

Be in prayer for all, in one way or another. Come and worship with us this Sunday. Sunday school at 9 a.m., and worship service at 10 a.m.
Have a great day!

Team building exercises build life skills

Every time 4-H members gather, they establish or renew relationships and state the purpose of their meeting. This communication is accomplished through team building.

In 4-H, team building activities are often referred to as icebreakers or energizers. While they may look like fun and games, these exercises are actually carefully organized and planned activities that serve the specific purpose of building group trust and cohesion. Team building activities are directed, leader-supervised activities that take into consideration the needs of each individual in the group to help them connect with each other and grow as leaders.

Team building activities build consensus, create a comfort level within the group, establish strong foundations for future relationships, support an environment of open communication, increase the members' commitment to the group and contribute to members' growth as leaders.

The importance of team building is further reinforced because it actively supports and enhances "belonging," one of the essential elements of 4-H. It creates an inclusive and safe environment and creates a positive relationship with caring adults.

Team building also meets another goal of 4-H, leadership. Participating in team building activities and reflecting on the experience and the outcomes allows the young person to develop essential leadership skills. They "learn by doing."

Never underestimate the importance of team building as a vital part of each 4-H gathering.

For more information about team building, contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

USDA Farm Service Agency 2014 important deadlines

The Falmouth Farm Service Agency would like to remind eligible producers that the following crop reporting dates are fast approaching:

March 1, 2014- alfalfa, clover, grass millet, mix forage, TEFF for Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance program coverage.

Currently accepting crop reports for wheat intended for cover crop, grain and forage.

July 15, 2014- all crops. Please check with the Falmouth Farm Service Agency at 814 U.S. Highway 27 S., for more details. If you have any questions, please call (859) 654-3374.

Non-insured crop disaster assistance program deadline

Lexington, Kentucky, February 19, 2014, the USDA Farm Service Agency's Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) provides financial assistance similar to crop insurance to eligible producers affected by natural disasters. The upcoming deadlines to file an application for natural disaster protection under the NAP are March 1 and March 15.

The crops for March 1 deadline are: alfalfa, clover, grass, millet, mixfg., teff.

The crops for March 15 deadline are: asparagus, beans, beets, broccoli, cabbage, cantaloupe, carrots, cauliflower, celery, corn, corn-hybrid seed, cucumbers, eggplant, garlic, gourds, greens, herbs, honeydew, leeks, lettuce, okra, onions, parsnip, peas, peppers, popcorn, potatoes, pumpkins, radish, sorghum, sorghum-grain, soybeans, squash, strawberries, sunflowers, sweet potatoes, tobacco-burley, tobacco-dark air, tobacco-fire cured, tomatoes, tomatoes, turnips and watermelons.

Eligible producers must apply for coverage of non-insurable crops using Form CCC-471, and pay the applicable service fee at the FSA office where their farm records are maintained. The application and service fee must be filed by the application closing dates.

Applications require a service fee equal to $250 per crop per county or $750 per producer per county not to exceed a total of $1875 per producer for all counties. Limited resource producers may request a waiver of the service fee. To qualify for an administrative service fee waiver, the producer must meet established criteria.

For more information contact your local FSA office. Many farmers qualify as limited resource and obtain free coverage for their crops.

NAP coverage normally begins 30 days after payment of fees and continues through the expected harvest period. Accepted applications provide catastrophic protection for loss levels that exceed 50 percent of the approved yield for the crop unit. A unit includes all the crop acreage in the county in which the producer has a unique interest. Loss payments are calculated on 55 percent of the average established market price for the covered crop.

Producers with NAP coverage are reminded to file a notice of loss within 15 days of a natural disaster affecting your crop or when the loss becomes apparent.

Contact your local FSA office for additional NAP closing dates. Producers should always check with their local FSA office for specific crops and other application closing dates.

Protect young children: poison-proof your home

Poison centers across the United States receive more than one million calls annually about children accidentally being poisoned. Potentially dangerous products can include cleaning products, painting supplies, pesticides, medications and even makeup. To keep curious children from getting into everyday things that can hurt or even kill them, poison-proof your home.

These tips will help you poison-proof your home and protect your family.

Always post the number for the Poison Control Center (800-222-1222) near all of your telephones and be sure babysitters and caregivers have this number.

Whenever possible, use products that do not contain potentially harmful chemicals.

Choose products with child-proof or safety caps.

Always read and follow label directions on use and storage of hazardous products. Store products in the original container and never mix two products together.

Store drugs, chemicals, poisons and other unsafe products safely in your house, garage, car, purse, diaper bag and barn or other outside building. A locked cabinet is the best way to keep hazardous products out of the reach of children.

Eliminate food, water and other items that may attract pests.

Try alternatives to chemical pesticides to get rid of pests. For examples, pull weeds instead of using herbicides and use traps for pests instead of poisons or sprays.

Always be sure your children are well away from the location when you use household or garden chemicals or pesticides.

If poisoning does occur, remain calm. Call 911 or your local emergency telephone number if the person is unconscious, convulsing or having a hard time breathing; otherwise, call the Poison Control Center at 1-800-222-1222.

For more information on family safety, contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Managing the calving season

Providing sound management during the calving season can mean more live calves. Excessive losses can mean the difference between a year's profit or loss for a beef producer.

It is important to have a short calving period to allow frequent observation and assistance if needed. Some specific things a producer can do to limit calf loss include: separate first-calf heifers from mature cows. Calving difficulty can run as high as 30 to 40 percent for two year-old heifers compared to just three percent for mature cows. Place them in a small, accessible pasture near a corral where assistance can be given if needed.

Provide a clean area for calving. The calving area should be a well-sodded pasture or clean, dry maternity pen, not a wet, muddy lot. It should also be large enough for adequate exercise and offer protection from prevailing winds.

Be familiar with the signs of calving. Within a few hours of calving, cows generally become nervous and uneasy. As contractions increase, a cow will likely wander away from the rest of the herd.

Check cows frequently.

Observing cows three or four times a day and providing assistance when necessary results in more live calves. However, cows should be disturbed as little as possible during labor.

Know when a cow needs assistance. Intervention is justified when two or three hours have passed without progress or if delivery has not occurred within 90 minutes after the water sac appears. In a normal delivery, the calf's front legs and head will appear first.

There are also a few steps to take after the calf is born to help it get off to a good start. These include making sure the calf is breathing normally after it is delivered and that it consumes colostrum. Ideally, a calf should consume its first milk within 15 to 30 minutes after birth.

Immediately after calving increase the cow's energy intake to about 16 pounds of total digestible nutrients per day. The extra energy will help the cow produce enough milk for her calf and allow her to rebreed on schedule.

For more information on beef cattle production and management, contact the Pendleton County Extension Service.

Homemade pizza dough by the Amish Cook

The Amish Cook
By Lovina Eicher

We are still having temperatures below zero on some mornings. We also received a few more inches of snow. The local paper said we have had 41.5 inches of snow this year and the average temperature has been zero. We are getting an idea of what life feels like in Alaska! There have been very few days that the temperature was warm enough for the children to go outside to enjoy the snow. On days that were warm enough they enjoyed sledding, building igloos, etc. The boys had Stormy the pony pulling several sleds. Lovina uses Minnie, our miniature pony, to pull her sled. Pulling a sled is a good way to exercise the ponies in the winter months.

Benjamin and Joseph built a wooden sled and now are getting to enjoy it. I think the sled will outlast the plastic store-bought ones. This seems to be more like the winters we had when we were growing up. I have fond memories of going places with the big bob sled hitched to our team of Belgian work horses or two of the driving horses. I remember sometimes on a Sunday morning Uncle Chris and family would come driving in to pick us up with their bobsled to go to church. Sometimes another family on the way to church would be picked up also. We didn't mind being crowded on those cold rides. Bales of straw were placed in the bobsled to make seats and some of the smaller children would sit on the floor wrapped in thick buggy robes. It was always such a cozy ride. Uncle Chris would stand at the front of the bobsled dressed in a big, long thick coat to protect him from the cold wind as he drove the team of horses down the snow-covered roads.

I can remember when the 1978 blizzard hit us. It took an hour for the road in front of the house to be plowed out. There wasn't any traffic for a week. The milk truck couldn't come to pick up milk, but we still had to milk the cows. We milked cows and ran out of milk cans so every container and bucket that could be filled was full of milk. The kitchen was shut off to help keep the rest of the house warmer. The milk was stored in the cold kitchen and the dining room was used for our kitchen. We would go outside and could walk over the fence posts and mailbox. We could walk up to the roof of the sheds and write our name on the roof in the snow. I was almost seven years old and remember when the bus finally came to pick up my older siblings. I would stand on top of this huge snow pile to wave goodbye. I was young enough not to have the worries that I imagine my parents had until the roads were opened. I do remember that when we went out to do the milking Dad told us to hold on to one of our older brothers. It was hard to see in the dark with the blowing snow.

Our highlight this week was daughter Verena's return from Florida. We missed her being gone eight days. The children made a big "Welcome Home Verena" sign with balloons on it. They hung it on the shed door so she could see it when they arrived home. She had a nice, memorable trip. It was nice to all be together again to eat supper that night. This was the first time to have one of our children be away from us that long. God bless you all! I will share a new pizza crust recipe I received from a friend.

Ingredients:

- 1 ½ cups warm water (105 – 115)
- 1 packet of yeast
- 1 teaspoon of sugar
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 3 ½ cups all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons cornmeal

Directions:

Place ¼ cup warm water in a large bowl. Sprinkle yeast over water; stir in sugar. Let stand 5 minutes. Add remaining water, oil and salt. Stir in flour until dough pulls away from the side of bowl. Turn dough onto lightly floured surface. Knead until smooth, 8-10 minutes. Coat a large bowl with cooking spray. Place dough in bowl, turning to grease top. Cover loosely with plastic wrap. Let rise in warm place until almost double in size, about 45 minutes. Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Punch down dough. Coat two 12 inch pizza pans with cooking spray. Sprinkle pans with cornmeal. Divide dough in half. Roll dough to fit prepared pans. Hint: letting the dough rest for 10 minutes after it is about half the size will help it stretch easily the rest of the way. Press dough against edge to form rim. Bake crust for 10 minutes. Remove crust from oven and top with pizza sauce and your favorite toppings. Once you have your toppings on bake for another 15-20 minutes.

COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY PENDLETON CIRCUIT COURT CASE NO. 13-CI-00109

v.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE

JENNIFER LYNN SCHULKERS aka JENNIFER L. SCHULKERS
ERIC SCHULKERS

DEFENDANTS

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of Sale the Pendleton Circuit Court rendered February 5, 2014 in the above action, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Pendleton County Judicial Center at Falmouth Kentucky to the highest and best bidder at public auction on March 6, 2014 at the hour of 10:00 a.m. the following described property:

Lot Number 63 of the Buck-Eye Hills, Incorporated Subdivision, as set forth in plan and plat prepared by James E. Sanders, Land Surveyor, which is of record in Deed Book 113, Page 116, of the Pendleton County Clerk's Office at Falmouth, Kentucky. Being the same property conveyed to Jennifer Lynn Schulkers, a married person, from Raymond Earl Shively and Rosemary Shively, husband and wife, on 2/14/11 and recorded on 2/17/11 in Deed Book 306 Page 664 of the records of the Pendleton County Clerk's Office. Property Address: 1063 Buckeye Hills Rd. Falmouth, KY 41040

This property is being sold to produce the sum of $82,991.77 together with interest at the rate of $12.32 per diem from August 26, 2013 until paid plus late charges, advances for taxes and insurance, and its costs herein expended, including a reasonable attorney fee and for any other fees expended for services performed in connection with the defendant's default and for the purposes of protecting Plaintiff's interest in the property and its rights under the mortgage instrument. The property shall be sold upon the following terms and conditions:

- 1) The purchaser shall be required to pay ten percent (10%) of the purchase price on the date of the sale, to apply on the purchase price;
- 2) The balance of the purchase price shall be due and payable, in cash or certified funds, within sixty (60) days from the date of sale;
- 3) The purchaser shall be required to execute a bond, with good and sufficient surety thereon for the unpaid balance of the purchase price, said bond to bear interest at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum from the date of sale, until paid;
- 4) The purchaser shall have the privilege of paying all or any part of the purchase price or paying said bond before maturity by paying the balance of the principal, together with all accrued interest thereon;
- 5) The purchaser shall be required to assume and pay any and all ad valorem taxes on the subject property for the current year, and all subsequent taxes;
- 6) The subject property shall be sold free and clear of all liens and claims of any party to this action, except restrictions and easements thereon appearing of record in the Pendleton County Clerk's Office, if any;
- 7) Possession of the subject property shall be given to the purchaser upon confirmation of Commissioner's sale, and the Defendants or any persons claiming through them shall have vacated the premises by that time;
- 8) Said property shall be sold subject to:

- a. Assessments for public improvements levied against the subject property;
- b. Existing zoning ordinances, statutes, laws, or regulations;
- c. Any facts which an accurate survey or inspection of the property may disclose.

Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

CARD OF THANKS

Browning Thanks

We want to thank our family and friends for the phone calls, visits and each one for cards, prayers and food during and after my stay in the hospital and Cedar Ridge Health Campus for two weeks, and during Wallace's eye surgery, and the care he received while I was not at home. And also the calls, food and prayers.

The Browning family.

"Your health is your most valuable asset. Get your cancer screenings regularly; it could save your life."

Sandy Prince, Volunteer
American Cancer Society

It is time to put your health first.

If it's been too long since your last comprehensive health exam, we can help you get back on track. Did you know that eating well, exercising, not smoking and getting regular checkups could reduce your risk of getting cancer by 50%?

The Great American Health Check is a simple online health assessment tool available at www.cancer.org/greatamericans. It provides a personalized action plan, including guidance on which cancer screening tests are recommended and offers healthy behavior tips. You can even print out your action plan to discuss with your doctor.

Go ahead, check it out. Find the answers you need to live a longer healthier life.
